Impact of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict on the business operations

The crisis that arose at the back-end of February 2022 as a result of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict has caused a high level of volatility across global markets, the result of which has contributed to sizeable challenges across a wide range of factors: shifts in geopolitical and economic stability, volatility in the global supply chain and a negative impact on general humanitarian factors. The significant impact of the sanctions on Russia has already been recorded globally by means of significant increases in commodity prices and pronounced capital market volatility, which will continue to affect the global supply chain and purchasing power of legal and natural entities (e.g. through rising costs, supply/demand cycle challenges, rising inflation, etc...).

The Company does not conduct financial transactions through any Russian financial institution and has no financial exposure to same.

The throughput of Russian coal in the trading segment in FY21 amounted to 62.693 tons. This amounts to 33% of the total throughput in the trading segment and 1.60% of the total throughput of the Company. The impact of Russian coal on total revenues amounted to less than 20% for FY21. The Company does not have access to customer information regarding customers' business activities with Russia and as such is unable to assess the effect of same on the business.

The throughput relating to Russian coal as per the Company's FY22 plan was anticipated to amount to less than 2% of the total planned throughput of the Company for the financial year. Despite this, the Company still expects an overall increase in throughput in FY22 as compared to FY21. No throughput relating to Russian goods has occurred to date in FY22.

The Company has assessed the associated risks as follows:

- Potential decline in the trading segment activities due to the imposed sanctions on the import of Russian coal/commodities. The Company intends to replace its planned quantities of Russian coal with other sources to the extent possible. The effect of such is very likely to lead to increased global demand for coal/commodities from non-Russian sources and as such will result in price increases for same.
- The overall impact on the total revenues and throughput of the Company cannot be assessed at this stage. The Company does not have access to customer information relating to customers' business activities with Russia and as such is unable to assess the effect of same on the business.

An increase in the prices of transport, raw materials, energy, which is passed on to other costs.

The Company is in the process of establishing a risk management plan in connection with the impact of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict on the business operations of the Company. Management is actively assessing the market in order to better position itself in light of these new circumstances.

Trade receivables and the Company's liquidity outlook

Trade receivables as at 31 March 2022 amounted to 158 million kuna, which evidences an increase of 143,7% when compared to the previous year. 91% of the total trade receiveables are not yet due.

Cash and cash equivalents decreased by 50% from 112.782 thousand kuna as at 31 December 2021 to 35.938 thousand kuna as at 31 March 2022. The Company has invested its own resources to purchase goods (circa 130 million kuna) and the decline in cash is a result of said and indicates the effect of timing differences rather than liquidity constraints. As the trade receivables have become due and payment has been made, to date of this report the balance of cash has increased. The Company maintains a satisfactory level of liquid assets sufficient to meet all liabilities as they fall due.
